

BEREA

The Friend of Every Man

Berea has benefited the mountain farmers through portions of five states!

Cattle buyers say so.

Stave buyers say so.

Everybody who travels through the country says so.

Berea trained teachers have earned good money for themselves and taught the children better than they were ever taught before.

Berea trained farmers are getting more out of the land than was ever raised before.

Berea trained girls are making better homes.

Thousands of people who never see Berea are happier, wiser and better to-day because Berea exists.

But the great school is still greedy for a chance to help those it has not yet helped and teach those it has not yet taught.

Today you see more than a hundred young people finishing courses of study. Next September there will be a chance for many more to begin such courses as these young people finish today.

What these graduates have done your boys and girls can do if they will.

Berea has so many departments and so many classes that it can put each new student with others of the same kind where he can make most rapid progress.

A wise father will starve his whole family if he has to, so as to get one bright boy or girl in school, and that one, with a little training at Berea, can help all the rest through.

Fall Term opens September 10.

1735 students have attended Berea the past year.

Cost of board, books, fees, for Fall Term, 14 weeks:

College	$32.40
Normal and Academy	$31.40
Vocational and Foundation	29.60

BEREA ASKS

You to Do Two Things To-day

Berea helps everybody.

No man or woman on this campus to-day but is in some respects richer because of what Berea College has done.

To-day the College asks each visitor to do two things:

The first is that you should subscribe for The Citizen. The College does not own The Citizen. It uses The Citizen as a channel of education. It passes out all the good things it can through The Citizen to its former students and neighbors in all directions. It is through The Citizen that the College can keep in touch with distant homes and that all the people who believe in progress can keep in touch with one another.

And The Citizen cannot run as the College does at less than cost. If it did so the U. S. Government would not let it go through the mails. The Citizen is printed on better paper and in larger size type so that old folks and little children can read it easily. It can make no money by harmful advertisements, but must have subscribers, and we ask everybody here to-day to subscribe.

And the College holds out its hand and asks each visitor to make some gift to-day for Kentucky Hall.

For years now we have been obliged to turn away a great many young women every winter because we had not rooms enough to shelter them.

People in far-off cities have been good in giving the institution buildings and grounds and machinery. But the people who are nearest to Berea, who get the largest benefit from it, ought to give their share.

If D. K. Pearsons could give $100,000 to Berea, a man who is worth less than D. K. Pearsons ought to give something.

No man is so poor that he has not a right to the luxury of being a partner in a great cause like this.

The new building is pictured on page 3. We hope to begin building it this summer. The name of every one who gives as much as $1.00 a month for a year will be recorded in the papers to be placed in a copper box under the corner stone, and every donor will receive a fine picture of the building when completed.

When the new building is erected you want to be able to say "I had a part in that building." Give us your offering for Kentucky Hall.

Peace Between Turkey and the Balkans—Spanish Cabinet Resigns—Author of "Pleasures of Life" Dies—Ocean Steamer Ashore.

PEACE AT LAST

Peace at last has been consummated between Turkey and the Balkan allies, the preliminary treaty having been signed at St. James Palace, London, last Friday, by the delegates of all of the allies and Turkey.

Reports continue to emanate from the Balkans, however, that strife is imminent between the allies themselves, repeated skirmishes having taken place between the Bulgarian troops and the Greeks, between whom there is contention over boundary lines and the possession of Salonika. Hopes are expressed that the question may be settled by arbitration or by the representative of the Pow-

They view with concern, however, the present tendency to extremes in intercollegiate athletics, and consider that Berez, with its limited number of advanced students and its large responsibilities for those engaged in manual labor for self support, cannot compete on equal terms with institutions whose students are differently situated. They therefore direct the President and Faculty to arrange for sports among our own students which shall meet the needs and requirements of our situation, and to limit contests with other colleges to those which are necessary to maintain the equality of status, and to the equality, and at moderate expense, and to so regulate such contests as not to detract from the interest in home contests or tempt our students to make athletics a too absorbing pursuit.

ACADEMY GRADUATION

Large Audience Enjoys Unusual Program in the Tabernacle, Saturday Night.

A very varied and exceedingly interesting program was given by the Berea Academy, Saturday night, in the Tabernacle.

For several previous years it has been the custom of this Department to offer a program simply of orations and essays. This custom this year was abandoned, and, while there were a number of essays and orations of very high class, these were broken into by two delightful plays, one the tragedy of Dido and the other the court scene in "The Merchant of Venice."

That these plays might be the more interesting and better understood, the one was preceded by two descriptive essays, the first being the story of Aeneas and the second the plot; and the other three essays dealing respectively with the story of Venice, the Jew in the Middle Ages and Shakespeare's plot of "The Merchant of Venice."

The tragedy of Dido was presented in a very realistic fashion, the translations having been made by the students presenting the parts and the costumes, which were true to the time represented in the story, were also arranged by members of the class.

The presentation of the play was good and must have quickened the interest of every one whether student or citizen in the classic story.

The scene from "The Merchant of Venice," was no doubt much better understood by the audience, and was followed with the deepest interest, some of the parts being given with the skill almost of an experienced actor. The Citizen reporter has heard very favorable comments upon Portia, Bassanio, Shylock and Gratiano, and the entire performance given very high praise.

The program was long, the only adverse comment from any one being that it was too long. And its length makes it impossible, in reviewing it, to give praise to each participant that is justly his due. It is sufficient to say that every oration and essay was of high order, and the delivery in nearly every case very pleasing and commendable.

At the conclusion of the Program Dean Matheny, in a few appropriate words, turned over the class to the College Department. They were received by Dr. Hubbard, Dean of the College Department, who congratulated them upon their attainments.

THE FOUNDATION AND MODEL SCHOOLS

Love and Loyalty to Berea's Traditions Exemplified in Graduation Exercises.

The program of Commencement week began Thursday afternoon with the graduating exercises of the Foundation and Model Schools, of which Prof. Edwards is the Superintendent.

The program was a unique and exceedingly interesting one, its title being "Leaves from The History of Berea College." There were twenty-one numbers, excluding the prayer and benediction, each of which was a significant part of the compact, well worked out and instructive as well as interesting whole.

To give an idea to those who were not present of the nature of the program, it is sufficient to mention some of the subjects, "Cassius M. Clay," "John B. Fee," "Mrs. Fee," "John R. Rogers," "A Letter From Mrs. Rogers," "The Pioneers," "The Exiles," "Early Teachers" and "The Little of Richmond." Each number was well presented by a splendid young man or woman from the school and their bearing and delivery gave evidence of thorough training and showed conclusively that the class motto, "Thus Endeth the First Lesson," could be appropriately applied to them.

There were three good music selections on the program, one "There is a Home in Old Kentucky," a contribution of a member of the class.

And the latter part of the program dealt with what might be called, "The Berea Present," the college buildings, the hospital, the water works and the departments being reviewed.

Prof. L. V. Dodge presented the certificates to the class which numbered eighty-one.

Prof. Edwards is to be congratulated for the successful work of his department during the year and on his ability to bring it all to a climax in a most instructive and helpful program, and, what is more, a program that must have united the hearts of every member of the class in love for the traditions of the school.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Program as Announced, Carried Out. Large Crowds and Much Interest in the Day's Varied Exercises.

Decoration Day was appropriately observed in Berea, the program as announced in last week's citizen being carried out to the letter. Differing from the former custom, the march to the cemetery and the decoration of the graves occurred early in the morning, which owing to the heat later in the day, was a very wise change.

The tottering ranks of the Berea Post were preceded in the march by the splendidly uniformed College Band, the rear being brought up by many carriages containing citizens and friends who carried loads of flowers.

At the graves the usual ritual exercises were gone thru with, Prof. Dodge being in charge, after which the flowers were distributed by the comrades on the graves of the departed heroes, many citizens joining with them and also scattering over the cemetery to place a token of love and affection upon the graves of their loved ones.

At 10 a. m. the memorial program, under the direction of Prof. Edwards, was given in the tabernacle. This, as on previous years, was one of the most interesting exercises of Commencement week, the various classes of the Foundation and Model Schools taking part in the program.

The drills and songs of the children were greatly enjoyed by a throng that practically filled the huge building, the music, the marches and the waving of the flags in the hands of the little folks stirring the hearts and quickening the memories of the old soldiers and every spectator, in fact.

An important feature of the day was the lunch on the campus prepared by the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, of which all the comrades and their families, as well as the band and some invited guests partook. Other parties from Berea and vicinity added to this festive feature of the day by bringing lunches and enjoying a picnic on the campus.

At the ringing of the bell at 1:30, and the call by music from the band, the comrades and others assembled in the Chapel and listened to most interesting addresses by Prof. Dodge and Pres. Frost.

ADDRESS TO LITERARY SOCIETIES

Rev. Jas W. Turner, D.D., Secretary of the Presbyterian Historical Society, Speaks on Some of the Lessons from History.

An appreciative audience listened to a concise address by this learned Philadelphian on Friday evening. His preliminary proposition was that free, unswerving manhood is at the basis of every well governed state.

"The character of the government," he declared, "depends upon the men, rather than the character of men on government." Hence, he argues, "It is folly to look to legislation to uplift men. The Millennial state comes from Millennial men, and men are not made by institutions. History enforces attention upon the principle of sacrifice. For only the men, who have made sacrifice, are honored on the pages of history." "Further," he added, "religion is a factor in any secure and enduring national life. Roman progress ceased, when Rome ceased to believe, as eloquently stated in the pages of Froude's Caesar. The United States government was built on foundations that were religious, and when religion falls the United States will fall."

Berea will be glad to hear Doctor Turner again.

One admirable thing about King Alfonso is that he is always smiling when he faces the camera.

-BEREA COLLEGE, BEREA, KENTUCKY-

-DORMITORY BUILDING-

Subscribers to Kentucky Hall

Last summer a movement was started to raise money in Berea and the surrounding country for the erection of a new building for Berea College.

The school has been turning away young women who wished to attend, and it was decided that the new building should be for them.

Toward this enterprise Berea itself did generously, the citizens subscribing $3,000, the students about $3,000, and the Faculty as much more.

During the time since then the President and others who have the task of raising money have had more than they could do just to get the money for current expenses month by month, and subscriptions for Kentucky Hall have not been taken very largely in the territory outside Berea. And some of the subscriptions which were to be paid month by month have fallen a little behind.

It will be proposed at the coming Trustee meeting that the building be begun and carried as far as the money already paid in will allow. To help this all who are behind in these payments are kindly asked to pay in as soon as possible.

SIX DOORS

FOR ASPIRING YOUNG PEOPLE

1st Door—Berea's Vocational Schools

Training that adds to your money-earning power, combined with general education.

FOR YOUNG MEN—Agriculture, Carpentry, Printing, Commercial. FOR YOUNG LADIES—Home Science, Dressmaking, Cooking, Nursing, Stenography and Typewriting.

2nd Door—Berea's Foundation School

General Education for those not far advanced, combined with some vocational training. No matter what your present advancement, we can put you with others like yourself and give chance for most rapid progress.

3rd Door—Berea's General Academy Course

For those who are not expecting to teach and who are not going through College, but desire more general education. This is just the thing for those preparing for medical studies or other professions without a college course. It also gives the best general education for those who wish a good start in study and expect to carry it on by themselves.

4th Door—Berea's Normal School

This gives the very best training for those who expect to teach. Courses are so arranged that young people can teach through the summer and fall and attend school through the winter and spring, thus earning money to keep right on in their course of study. Read Dinamore's great book, "How to Teach a District School."

5th Door—Berea's Preparatory Academy Course

This is the straight road to College—best training in Mathematics, Sciences, Languages, History and all preparatory subjects. The Academy is now Berea's largest department.

6th Door—Berea College

This is the crown of the whole institution, and provides standard courses in all advanced subjects.

Questions Answered

BEREA, FRIEND OF WORKING STUDENTS. Berea College with its affiliated schools, is not a money-making institution. It requires certain fees, but it expends many thousands of dollars each year for the benefit of its students, giving highest advantages at lowest cost, and arranging as far as possible for students to earn and save in every way.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with careful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the best families and are earnest to do well and improve. For any who may be sick the College provides doctor and nurse without extra charge.

All except those with parents in Berea live in College buildings, and many assist in work of boarding hall, farm and shops, receiving valuable training, and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except in winter it is expected that all will have a chance to earn a part of their expenses. Write to the Secretary before coming to secure employment.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, laundry, postage, books, etc., vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the best, but as students must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm wraps and underclothing, umbrellas and overcoats are necessary. THE CO-OPERATIVE STORE furnishes books, toilet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at cost.

LIVING EXPENSES are really below cost. The College asks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for cleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding and towels. For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week, in the fall, and $1.50 in winter. For furnished room, with fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 to 60 cents for each person.

SCHOOL FEES are two. First a "DOLLAR DEPOSIT," as guarantee for return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "INCIDENTAL FEE" to help on expenses for care of school buildings, hospital, library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers—all our instruction is a free gift) The Incidental Fee for most students is $5.00 a term; in Academy and Normal $6.00 and $7.00 in Collegiate courses.

PAYMENT MUST BE IN ADVANCE, incidental fee and room rent by the term, board by the half term. Installments are as follows:

	VOCATIONAL AND FOUNDATION SCHOOLS	ACADEMY AND NORMAL	COLLEGE
Incidental Fee	$ 5.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.00
Room	5.60	7.00	7.00
Board 7 weeks	9.45	9.45	9.45

Total for term	$29.00	$31.20	$32.20
If paid in advance	$28.50	$30.70	$31.70

*This does not include the dollar deposit nor money for books or laundry.

Special Expenses—Business.

	Fall	Winter	Spring	Total
Stenography and Typewriting	$14.00	$12.00	$10.00	$36.00
Bookkeeping (regular course)	14.00	12.00	10.00	36.00
Bookkeeping (brief course)	7.00	6.00	5.00	18.00
Business course studies for students in other departments:
Stenography	10.50	9.00	7.50	27.00
Typewriting, with one hour's use of instrument	7.00	6.00	5.00	18.00
Com. Law, Com. Geog., Com. Arith., or Penmanship, each	2.10	1.80	1.50	5.40
In no case will special Business Fees exceed $15.00 per term.

Any able-bodied young man or young woman can get an education at Berea if there is the will to do so.

It is a great advantage to continue during winter and spring and have a full year of continuous study. Many young people waste time in the public schools going over and over the same things, when they might be improving much faster by coming to Berea and starting in on new studies with some of the best young men and women from other counties and states.

Applicants must bring or send a testimonial showing that they are above 15 years old, in good health, and of good character. This may be signed by some former Berea student or some reliable teacher or neighbor. The use of tobacco is strictly forbidden.

Fall Term opens, Wednesday, Sept. 10th.

For information or friendly advice write to the Secretary.

and the Alumni Association.

Baccalaureate Sunday

Beautiful Procession—Large Audience—Stirring Sermon Addressed to Graduates by President Frost.Last year the Commencement procession to the Chapel for the Baccalaureate sermon had to be called off on account of the rain. Sunday there was no such interference, the day being ideal except for the heat. And so at the appointed hour the students and faculty by Departments assembled at Ladies Hall and, led by the band, marched to the Chapel. At the Chapel the graduates separated from the line of march and awaited in ante-rooms until the audience was seated when they were ushered into the Auditorium in platoons, the Vocational Dept. leading, where they occupied the bank of seats immediately in front of the rostrum, filling more than half that section of the Chapel.In the introductory exercises the various Deans took part. Prof. Marsh leading in prayer, Dean Howard reading the hymn, Prof. Matheny conducting the responsive reading and Dean Hubbard also leading in prayer.
The only special music was the hymn, "God of Our Fathers," by the choir.After the announcements President Frost took as his text, "Ye have pur-tled your souls in obeying the truth."The sermon was direct, logical and easily followed, the statement being made at the first that we are by nature seekers after truth. In illustration of his thought, the question was asked, Who blew up the Maine?
and the effort of the government to fathom the mystery given as exemplifying the inherent desire for the truth. As further illustrating the thought, the age-long search for the pole was sighted, and then the work of the scientists in any line and every line, resulting in one particular form "a rose in the wilderness to a wilderness of roses," and from a krah apple to the splendid fruit of our day.Whether the Bible is a parable or history the lesson is the same, it was declared, the Eden story illustrat-ing the fact that whether man is a sinner or not he is a searcher after the truth. The court house, the laboratory and the place of prayer were spoken of as the machinery for finding out the truth. And the friendly suit to establish justice or right was taken as an example illustrative of the court's place in this scheme.How the scientists in the laboratory delve after the truth was also strikingly shown, emphasis being laid upon the fact that he also is governed by law, the law of the laboratory; that, while nature always tells the truth, the operator himself must watch himself or he watched—he must be right.And the cloak of prayer is also a place where the truth is sought and there is a law here—faith and obedience must be practiced.The remainder of the sermon was the delineation of three fundamental propositions; first, truth must be sought and the chief obstacles met in one's striving for it are failures and prejudices. They must be watched for and avoided.Second, truth must be obeyed.
Error is unprofitable and obedience gets guidance. "My judgment is right because I seek not my own will but the will of my father."Third, truth must be trusted, for truth is reality. Illustrating the value of truth the scene in the fifth canto of Paradise Lost was pictured, the one angel who held to the right outweighing the millions who chose the wrong.The concluding part of the sermon was to the graduates more directly, they arising upon being addressed.
Quoting from John Stewart Mill, "The views of youth do not continue unless cultivated," they were exhorted to continue their search for the truth, to hold fast to it and to cherish their ideals.The concluding prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Maurer from New Haven, who gave the address before the religious societies in the evening.sit in judgment on a king, but to condemn him to death, and see that the sentence was carried into execution. These regicides on the execution of Charles II fled to America, became residents in the Connecticut colony, and their monuments testify to their herpism.The pastor of this church, Rev. Dr.
Maurer, a most delightful companion and a speaker of unusual power delivered a very thoughtful and interesting address on Sunday night.The theme of his discourse was the unwritten epic of the well-digger, the epic of the men, who make the unfruitful places fruitful, the barren places fertile, and the parched and barren deserts springs of living water. A clear resonant voice enunciated with force his delightfully descriptive passages and enforced with marked power the moral and spiritual lessons, but it is hard to compete with the roaring thunders, so the address was interrupted by a song service, until the storm abated.In conclusion he portrayed Christ as the one, who had opened the springs of life, as no one else has, not only to the woman of Samaria
but, to other barren and arid souls, he caused the waters of life to gush forth. In weighty and solemn words he summoned young people before him to the serious work of making life bright and happier this summer by opening these choked up springs and by digging wells in the dry places that they might find during the summer vacation. Dr. Maurer made an impression not only favorable, but lasting.

Queen Esther

The Harmonia Society under the Leadership of Prof. Rigby Presents the Great Musical Composition.The Cantata of Queen Esther, one of the world's greatest musical compositions, presents in song the Bible story of Esther, Mordecai and Haman.
A proper rendering of this is an enterprising calling for high ability on the part of the manager. There must be a large chorus of well trained singers, besides singers of unusual ability for the leading parts. Moreover, the matter of costume must be carefully studied and attention paid to proper grouping and dramatic expression on the part of the chorus and other characters. For his very successful accomplishment Prof. Rigby deserves the highest praise. The Tabernacle was simply crowded with an audience of about two thousand, who listened with the closest interest and the highest appreciation throughout the evening. Berea certainly appreciates an entertainment of high character such as was presented by the Har-monia Society. The thanks of the community are not only due but are felt by all and expressed by many, to each and every member for their pains-taking care.Where so many did excellently personal mention would be invidious. The leading characters were certainly rendered in a masterful manner, not only in the matter of voice but in the manner of presentation.Repeatedly most striking and beautiful tableaux were before us, of the brilliantly costumed Persians, or the sombre garbed Hebrews, whose songs of lament followed by their tribute of thanksgiving touched every heart.
And the children; such a beautiful scene as they presented delighted every one.To Professor Higby, to Miss Atkinson, to each of the leading characters and to the chorus, one and all, to Prof. Raine, who gave valued assistance in suggestions for grouping, dramatic expression and for costuming.When it comes to Meats and

SMITH—MC GINNIS

Mr. Webb McGinnis and Miss Suele Smith were united in marriage, Sunday, June 1st, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, on Chestnut St., Rev. Hans officiating.

Mr. McGinnis' home is in North Carolina. He was a student of Berea College, last year, where he met Miss Smith.

BURTON—TISDALE

Mr. Walter Tisdale and Miss Olive Burton both of Whites Station, Madison County, were married last Wednesday at Richmond.

The wedding occurred at the home of Dr. Scanlon, who was the officiating minister. The young couple will make their home near Whites Station. Their many friends congratulate them and wish them long lives of usefulness.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT

There are 103 teachers employed in the county schools of Madison County. Each one is vitally interested in who will be the next County Superintendent.

Prof. Harvey H. Brock who is actively canvassing for this office, was a county and High School teacher for years and is in touch and sympathy with every phase of the teachers work.

HOMESICK FOR BEREA

Montrose, Pa., May 29, 1913.

Dear Mr. Faulkner:

The Citizen comes to our home every week and I assure you, about this time of year, we always get a little homesick. As we read its columns and notices of Commencement and see the names of the young people who are to graduate, our thoughts go back to the ten enjoyable years spent in Berea.

We are always pleased to see the names of some young people who began years ago some in the grades and some farther advanced who have kept working away until they are now finishing.

If there is any one thing I would say to the young people who have been in school this year and not finished the course, it would be; Be sure to go back in the fall and FINISH something.

Give my kind regards through The Citizen to all my old friends. With best wishes for yourself, I am,
Very Sincerely Yours,
W. C. Gamble.

IN OUR OWN STATE

Stanley, in his recent speech at Glasgow, seems to have been a rather dismal failure. Most of his time was spent in an attack upon his opponent, Mr. Becham, his career as Governor being reviewed. But the Democratic press of the state is rather unanimous in its condemnation of Stanley for failing to give Beckham credit where credit was due. It can be safely predicted that Stanley will not be in the race for the Senate.

OILING THE MACHINERY
Ben Marshall, the new Collector of the Lexington District is not only to hold the office of Collector but to be recognized as a party boss. It is reported from Washington, the intimation being that Gov. McCreary has formed an alliance with him, agreeing to consult him about Franklin County's patronage in return for Marshall's support in his prospective race for the Senate.

FUSION URGED
Fusion is in the air nearly everywhere, the latest being a report from Louisville to the effect that the Republican Committee at its meeting, last week adopted a resolution favoring the fusion of the parties in Louisville that opposed the Democratic party last year. A committee has been appointed to formulate a plan to bring about this very much to be desired end.

KENTUCKY SENATORIAL PRIMARY

Secretary Bryan proclaimed the adoption of the 17th amendment to the Constitution, Saturday. This amendment is of interest in Kentucky now especially owing to the fact that it postpones the Senatorial Primary from 1913 to 1914. And, if a vacancy should occur in Kentucky's representation at Washington before the Legislature meets in 1914, that vacancy could not be filled by the Governor. He would have to call the Legislature in extra session to provide for the election by law.

ANOTHER TRADE EXCURSION

Trade excursions are the order of the day, the Louisville boosters having but recently ended their visit to the mountains. Now the business men of Lexington are announcing that they are "going courtin'" and their schedule is booked for June 17th and 18th, the points on the L. and E. R. R. being down for stops.

KENTUCKY DENTIST MEETING
The 44th annual meeting of the Kentucky Dental Association was held in Lexington, last week.

Several days were pleasantly and profitably spent by the dentists, the final business session having been held on Tuesday, at which the officers, for the coming year, Dr. William Randall, Pres., Dr. O. D. Wilson, Vice Pres., Dr. C. R. Shacklett, Secy., and Dr. Chester Dorsey, Treas., were elected.

Carnegie Library

Given by Andrew Carnegie at a cost of $40,000. Steam heated, and with electric light, contains about 25,000 volumes of carefully selected books, open daily to students for study and research work. Leading magazines and newspapers are kept on file. In the rear wing are temporarily located the offices of the President, Treasurer, and Secretary. Miss Corwin is in charge.

Industrial Building

Is 132 feet long and three stories high. For the present the women's industries, the laundry and sewing and cooking rooms, and a couple of class rooms are there, as well as the mechanical drawing rooms. The third story is temporarily used as a dormitory for young men.

Woodwork Building

Equipped with the best modern machinery for working in wood, and has the benches for the carpentry school.

New Power Plant

A brick building with the tallest chimney in this part of the state. New engine to provide for the increasing needs of the school. Two immense new boilers used for heating and power. Contains new ice plant under construction. In charge of Mr. Dick.

Putnam Hall

The new building for Vocational girls is just east of the Tavern and Church House, on the Big Hill Pike where a new campus is being opened.

This hall will contain two teachers and 70 splendid rooms for sewing, a great feature is the west porch and balconies. In the basement is one of the most attractive rooms of all Berea—the new quarters for Fireside Industries where 20 looms may be seen with all their varied products. Every visitor should see the Fireside Industries.

The Booth

Refreshments of all kinds are on sale there, and you can get cold or hot drinks, fruit, candy and sandwiches. The booth is conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and any profit goes to this excellent work.

Persons bringing lunch may deposit their baskets and baggage and receive a check for the same at the small school building near the tabernacle.

Big Facts about Berea College

The Gymnasium for physical training and indoor games like basket ball is conducted on the ample floor of the Tabernacle, where dumb-bells and other good apparatus are provided.

The New Chapel seats 1,000 persons with a smaller auditorium for 300 and Sunday-school rooms and other conveniences. It was erected by the labor of students.

The New Carnegie Library, which cost $40,000, is provided with steam heat and electric light, and affords excellent facilities for work by our advanced students in historical, literary, scientific pedagogical and other lines of investigation and research. It also provides for the needs of younger students and has rooms for the administration of our Traveling Libraries.

Lincoln Hall, the gift of the late Roswell Smith of the Century Company, a well-constructed three-story brick building contains offices, class-rooms and Co-operative Store ventilated and heated by steam. It also accommodates the College Men's Literary societies and the great Refectory.

Science Hall furnishes class-rooms, laboratories and cabinets for the Departments of Chemistry and Physics. A part of this building only is completed and occupied.

The Men's Industrial Building, 182 feet long and three stories high, accommodates for the present the Women's Industries sewing, cooking and laundry, the agricultural and biological lecture rooms, the cabinet, the free-hand and mechanical drawing, and in the third story a men's dormitory.

The New Power and Heat Plant, now under construction, has already installed two 150-horsepower boilers, and a 75 K. W. three wire 250-Volts D. C. Turbo Generator Set, Curtis type, supplying power and light wherever needed, as well as steam heat for the chief public buildings.

The Woodwork Building, three stories high, is equipped with the best machinery—planer, shaper, turning lathes, etc., as well as draughting rooms and accommodations for classes in carpentry.

Bruce Printing Building, erected in memory of Geo. Bruce the Type-founder and inventor of the "point system," is equipped with a Miehle Press, Linotype and other appointments of the very best pattern. The upper stories are now used as a study room with 30 benches and as a dormitory for men.

The Hospital, the new nurses' home, contiguous ward, necessary for epidemic of measles, and part of the main hospital building are built and will accommodate twelve non-contagious and twenty-five contagious patients, besides six nurses. There is also an operating room fully equipped with all modern conveniences.

Music Hall has a small room for rehearsals and several practice rooms.

Foundation School Rooms are located temporarily on the second floor of the Industrial Building, and in three remodeled store buildings—Hanson Hall, Palace, and Castle.

The Model School Buildings, three in number, contain five school rooms.

WOMEN'S DORMITORIES

Ladies Hall, a spacious three-story brick building, contains the offices of the Dean of Women and the Matron, other public rooms, and apartments for a hundred and two young women and seven teachers; public rooms heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The Annex accommodates sixteen young women and one teacher.

Pittman Hall, a three-story building, accommodates sixty-six young women of the Vocational Schools and two teachers. It has two splendidly equipped rooms for sewing and cooking, a model kitchen and dining room and temporary accommodations for freese industries.

Gilbert Cottage, twenty-six young women and two teachers.

Boone Cottage, thirty young women and two teachers.

Prospect Cottage, twenty-two young women and two teachers.

The Dodge House, twenty-two young women and two teachers.

The Marshall House, sixteen young women and two teachers.

The Model House, four young women and one teacher.

The Hospital and Annex, ten young women and one head nurse.

MEN'S DORMITORIES

Howard Hall, named after General Oliver O. Howard, accommodates seventy-eight young men and two teachers; steam-heated, electric lighted. This is the home of Academy men.

Pearsons Hall gives best accommodations for one hundred and forty-four young men and two teachers. This is the home of College men and advanced men of the Normal Department.

Pearsons Hall Annex, forty-two young men and one teacher.

Williams Dormitory, twenty-four young men and one teacher of the Foundation School.

Williams Annex and Howard Hall Annex each accommodate thirty-four young men and one teacher.

The Palace, twelve young men and one teacher.

The Castle, ten young men and one teacher.

The Rookery, fourteen young men and one teacher.

Gate Cottage, six young men.

Bruce, forty young men and one teacher.

Industrial, seventy-two young men and two teachers.

The Chapel, eight young men.

Science Hall, ten young men.

Rooms for young men in other buildings accommodate fifteen.

The Boarding Hall, occupying part of the Ladies Hall and annexes, provides table accommodations in its six dining-rooms for nine hundred persons. Its bakery, steam kettles and other equipments make it possible to furnish good board at smallest expense.

LIBRARY AND APPARATUS

The College Library contains over twenty-six thousand well-selected volumes carefully cataloged and classified by the Dewey system. The entire collection is open to students daily. Small select libraries are provided in Ladies Hall, Howard Hall, and several other buildings. Magazines and newspapers are supplied by a subscription of teachers and students.

Working Cabinets. Collections for working cabinets of mineralogy, geology, botany, forestry, zoology and commercial geography are displayed so far as room permits.

Laboratories. Laboratories in the departments of physics, mathematics, chemistry, botany and zoology are well provided with microscopes and complete equipment for individual student work.

Class-room equipments are ample—including maps, charts and other illustrative material.

The Gymnasium has ample floor space in the Tabernacle, and a considerable equipment of first class apparatus. The three athletic fields are among the best in the state.

The Lands for Instruction in Farming and Forestry embrace gardens, farm lands, and the Fay Forest of over 4,000 acres.

SPECIAL CARE OF HEALTH

For Bodily Vigor. The arrangements of our school life are such as to promote good health. The wholesome food, regularity of meals, quiet hours for sleep, absence of tobacco and dissipating pleasures, invigorating sports, gymnastic drill, and bath-rooms in the main dormitories, practically insure good bodily development.

To protect health we are obliged to request parents not to send food of any kind except fruit to students in term time.

The Hospital and College Physician care for all boarding students when sick, without charge, except for chronic diseases, surgery and dentistry. Patients pay for medicine and bandages at cost price. Students lodged in the Hospital pay board for the time they are there at the same rates as at Ladies Hall. The health record of Berea students is remarkably good—far better than that of any equal number of young people at their homes.

GENERAL CULTURE AND RECREATION

Besides the various courses of study open to students there are many opportunities for general culture and enjoyment.

The Lyceum Course of entertainments, managed by a committee of the Faculty, secures each year some of the best talent of the country. These entertainments are furnished at prices much lower than at other places.

The Harmonia Society, numbering some hundred voices, affords training for singers and enjoyment for all. It practices each Tuesday night, gives concerts at Christmas and Commencement time, and aids at other entertainments.

Choral Classes, beginners' class, and advanced class, offer the best of instruction in singing to all students without any extra charge.

The College Band of some twenty members receives free instruction and free use of several instruments.

The Literary Societies hold their meetings on Saturday night. The Utile Dulce and Pi Epsilon Pi societies are for young women of the Collegiate Department; the Philamthea Society for Normal women; the Aefioian Society for Academy women; the Douglas Society for young women of the Vocational and Foundation Schools. The Alpha Zeta and Phi Delta societies are for young men of the advanced classes and have fine rooms in Lincoln Hall; the Union and Beta Kappa societies are for young men of the Normal and Academy Departments; the Dinsmore Forensic Society for Normal men; and the Franklin Society for Foundation School men; the Mountain Society for young men and young women meets Saturday afternoon, and a "Mountain Congress" is held each winter in which students from the mountain counties of Kentucky and other States discuss the things that make for progress in this region.

Student Religious Societies. There are senior and intermediate Christian Endeavor societies connected with the Union Church of Berea, which are conducted largely by students; and the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association are large and active. In these societies new students will find a hearty welcome, and the best of companionship and friendship.

Sports are arranged for in such ways as to afford real recreation without distracting attention from study, and are supervised by the Gymnasium Committee. Besides the three athletic fields (page 29) a number of tennis courts are at the disposal of the students, as well as facilities for basket-ball, croquet, and special work in the gymnasium. The competitions of Field Day are open to the whole school. The different departments organize competitive sports like baseball, football and basket-ball, making a regular schedule of games with each other. Our students do not engage in intercollegiate contests to any extent.

Walking parties, and occasional excursions, in addition to "Mountain Day," are inviting forms of recreation.

The Weekly Lecture, usually on Thursday, are sometimes to the whole body of students and sometimes to the main and upper chapel gatherings separately, by a member of the Faculty or some distinguished speaker from abroad. The following are some of the subjects discussed during the past year:

"The Treasures of Youth," "The Purpose of Education," "The Battle of the Bulge," "Martin Luther," "Fetters of Habit," "Browning," "Keeping Ahead of the Times," "Taste in Dress," "Peace," "Holland," "Play a Part of School Work."

Special Occasions in the form of Opening Socials, Department Socials, Mountain Day and the like, are provided at various times through the College year, and duly announced in the Calendar, page 3.

Other Public Occasions of educational value are the closing exercises at each term, joint debates between literary societies, entertainments by the Foundation and Model Schools, recitals by the Music Department, public addresses on Thanksgiving Day, Day of Prayer for Colleges, Lincoln's Birthday and "Mountain Congress," a Christmas Concert, a stirring program on Memorial Day, listened to by a large concourse of people from the surrounding country, and the several exercises of Commencement Week—anniversary of literary societies, address before these and other organizations, Academy exhibition, baccalaureate session alumni reunion, the addresses of Commencement Day attended by thousands.

REGULATIONS

*The Regulations of the Institution are few and simple, appealing to the self-respect and personal responsibility of the student. Students are not permitted to use intoxicating liquors or tobacco or to enter eating houses or places of amusement outside college grounds, on pain of immediate suspension. Secret societies are not allowed in connection with the College. No student is allowed to visit one of the opposite sex in any private place. Students that need to be absent from class, chapel, or any other required exercise, must get an excuse from the proper officer in advance. The necessary labor connected with the school—at boarding hall, dormitories, offices, laundry, shop, farm, etc.—is done by students, with fair compensation. So far as possible this is assigned to those desiring to earn money, but all students must be ready to do as much as seven hours of manual work a week.

Berea is designed only for those who really desire the regulated life thus provided for, and all others are earnestly advised to go elsewhere. Students that fail to give cheerful compliance to the regulations of the school, or to improve their opportunities here, may be privately dismissed without special charge or censure at any time, and must depart promptly to their homes.

Christian Character. The College is undenominational but distinctly Christian, and provides instruction in the Bible, one hour during the week and one hour on Sunday morning. All students attend religious services in the chapel on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, and on Sunday night.

*Students are held responsible for knowing the contents of the Student's Manual issued by advising officers.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JUNE 8

JOSEPH FORGIVES HIS BRETHREN

LESSON TEXT—(Gen. 45:1-8) GOLDEN TEXT—"Brother, how good and how pleasant is it for brethren to dwell together in unity." Ps. 133:1.

No story of the Old Testament is fraught with greater dramatic interest than that which is presented today. Let us get the setting of the picture. An opulent oriental court; that man who, next to Pharaoh exercised more power than any congress or assembly, and into whose hands had been placed the destinies of a kingdom by earthly power and the outworking of the plan of redemption by a divine power. Servants, power, resources, all at Joseph's command. Before him his brothers who long ago gave him up as being dead. Outside a great calamity resting upon the people, and none prepared to meet it except these of Egypt whose provision was the result of the work of this man of God (1 Tim. 4:8). Before this man, as humble supplicants, we see those who "entreated him despitely." Judah's speech was a revelation to Joseph. It satisfied him, and what need, therefore, for further delay in revealing himself in his true character?

Saving Love.

I. Revelation, vv. 1-3.—Excluding all from his presence, saving his brothers, Joseph gave full vent to his joy and rejoicing. "I am Joseph; doth my father yet live?" Their astonishment was so great as to leave them speechless, and again haunting memories condemn them to fear and foreboding for they were "troubled in his presence." We have here a beautiful picture of forgiveness and saving love. The exaltation of Jesus was to give repentance to Israel through the forgiveness of sins. Acts 5:31. Even so did Joseph bring repentance to his brothers and forgiveness of their wrongs toward him 22 years before. Joseph's severe dealings with his brothers aroused them to a full recognition of their evil deeds and prepared them to receive his pardon and forgiveness.

But the cup is full, no longer can he restrain himself, and with a loud voice, so loud that it could be heard without, he cried "I am Joseph." Small wonder that at such a proclamation by him whom they had so grievously wounded, "they were troubled." So shall it be when the brethren of Jesus shall "look upon him whom they have pierced," Zech. 12:10.

II. Reconciliation, vv. 4-8.—The greatness of Joseph is here revealed in a clear, true light. He interprets to his brothers their own actions with all that God has involved in it, which must have been a great surprise to his brothers. Joseph does not wait for them to fall at his feet and sue for mercy, but seeks to allay their fears. "Come near to me I pray you." These who by their wicked works were rightfully alienated from him are invited to draw nigh, Col. 1:21 and Matt. 11:28.

Joseph's Grace.

Joseph was as one who was dead and out of that came life for those of his own family as well as those outside. Even so God has brought life to many out of the death of Jesus, working salvation for all out of the most colossal and infamous crime ever perpetrated—the crucifixion. Joseph was "sent" (v. 7), to save those very ones (John 1:11). It was a "great deliverance," see Heb. 2:3. Here, again, we see Joseph's intimate relations with God. "It was not you that sent me hither, but God." That is the right way to look at life, Rom. 8:28.

III. Proclamation, vv. 9-15.—The news of this meeting came to Pharaoh, vv. 2, 16, with the result that he commanded Jacob and all of his household to be brought into Egypt. Having received good things themselves, they are commanded to go with haste, and tell others, Matt. 28:7. The first call is always "come" (v. 4), and that is always followed by the command of to "go" (v. 9). Joseph was not ashamed of his old father and his brothers in the days of his prosperity, and added that when they should dwell in Egypt they were to be "near unto me," see Phil. 1:23, John 14:3. When the brothers reached Jacob and told him that Joseph was alive and exalted in Egypt he could not believe them, and his heart fainted. Can we be surprised? Yet conviction was at hand in the shape of the wagons laden with the rich spoil of Egypt, vv. 21, 27, 28. Again God appears to Jacob, 46:2, 3, and adds the assurance of his own word.

Lessons of the Lesson.—The greatness of Joseph's character is revealed in the hour of the fulfillment of his dreams—tears, not vindictiveness, manifest the condition of his heart. Jacob recognizes God's great plan, and that its outcome is an evident blessing for others as well as for himself. There is no evidence of pride as Joseph interprets God's dealings. God has made abundant provision for us in Christ. This lesson is the reverse of the usual order in that the lesson illustrates the golden text rather than the text illustrating the lesson.

This beautiful property lies on the south side of Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky, the lot being 60x200 feet, fronted by a concrete walk; a concrete basement under the whole house; arranged for furnace-heat; house also fitted for gas lights.

The house is constructed of good material and is well built. It has double floors, the top floor being of hardwood handsomely finished. The first floor rooms are finished in hardwood, the second in hard pine. The building is also storm sheeted and is plastered throughout with patent wood fiber plaster. There are three beautiful tiled grates with oak mantels with large french plate mirrors.

The water supply is from a deep bored well on the back porch.

This is a most beautiful home. We are going to sell it if we can. Any one wanting a good home in Berea with an opportunity to send his children to school will find it to his advantage to write to Bicknell & Harris at once. We will be delighted to give prices on this property or any which we have. And we like to have calls also for we can show better than we can describe the property.

There have been some good bargains in the way of vacant lots and residence properties sold on Jackson Street recently. We have still some splendid offers to make—properties running in prices from $500.00 up to $4000.00 right in Berea and just out of Berea. We should be pleased to have any one take up the matter with us.

Yours very truly,

BICKNELL & HARRIS,

THE MATHEMATICS OF RETRIBUTION

A man in New York the other day was on his way to kill an enemy when the bomb he had prepared for the purpose exploded, seriously wounding himself. This is an illustration of the fact that the wrong which men intend and do to their neighbors is a penalty in that it falls on themselves. The old story of the farmer, who was so jealous of his rival that he crept in the darkness to throw over the statue that had been erected in his honor and in doing so was crushed to death under the falling figure, describes the ill fate that is likely to visit the one who undertakes to injure his fellows. The scandal-monger bespatters his own garments, the thief picks his own pocket, the assassin stabs himself, or throws his head off with his own bomb. In the long run there is a complete squaring up; there is value for value; there is the reaping of the thing that was sown. The good or evil we do to our fellow men comes back to us unerringly. The psalmist describes the poor wretch who means death for others and brings it to himself: "His mischief shall return upon his own head."—The Christian Herald.

Loyalty to Home Merchant.

Try your home merchant first. If you receive a catalogue from an out-of-town firm offering you a certain article at a certain price, go and ask your dealer about it and see if he cannot duplicate it. You don't know what you pay for when you buy from out of town, but the home dealer is always here to make good if things are not as he says. Give him the chance, anyway, before sending away from home the money you earn here and that should remain as a portion of the working capital of the community.—Bellevue (O.) Gazette.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

THE WISDOM OF DADDY CROW

By CALES B. WHITFORD.

A very wise old crow that lived in the north with his big tribe found the winters were too severe for him so he concluded to take the crows, over which he ruled, and migrate to a more southern country where it was not so cold. But when he called the crows together to advise them of his decision to take them to a warmer climate they made some objections to going to a new country.

"We are doing very well here," said young Jimmy Crow.

"You must not forget," answered the old crow, "that I am a very wise bird. I have lived here a great many years and have taught most of you all you know about getting your living and keeping out of trouble. I want to continue to help you. Perhaps you had better put Jimmy Crow at the head of the community and depose me. I've noticed lately that he professes to have a wonderful lot of wisdom for a young crow."

"I'm going to follow Daddy," said little Billy Crow. "Of course I'm a little crippled crow and don't pretend to be very smart, but I know enough to follow a wise old leader like Daddy. If we don't like the country he wants to take us to, I'm sure he will bring us back."

After some wrangling in which Jimmy Crow made himself very conspicuous, it was finally decided to follow Daddy Crow south. It was a long hard journey, and when their destination was reached the crows were poor in flesh, hungry and very much out of humor with Old Daddy Crow. Jimmy Crow did all he could to stir up trouble and finally succeeded in persuading all the crows but little Billy that he was a much wiser crow than Daddy Crow and should be given the leadership.

"Here we are," he said, "a long way from home, unable to find anything to eat but rank seaweed. We ought to punish Daddy Crow for taking us away from home, then we should return."

All the hungry crows favored Jimmy Crow's plan except little lame Billy. This was what Jimmy Crow desired. He knew he could not very well carry out his ambitious scheme to rule as long as wise old Daddy Crow lived. He was therefore very happy when it was decided to find Daddy Crow the next day and put him to death.

Little lame Billy slipped quietly away from the noisy council to find Daddy Crow and tell him the awful news. He went straight to the thick cedar swamp where the wise old crow had chosen his hiding place. Not finding him he concluded to wait until he returned. Poor old Daddy Crow was very downhearted, not so much because of his own suffering but rather for the suffering of his tribe and the ingratitude they showed him. He found a quiet place on the seashore, where he tried to think of some way out of his difficulty.

As he paced back and forth along the muddy shore on old soft-shell clam, a little below the surface, was annoyed at the tramping over his head, and finally concluded to go to the surface and see who it was walking on the top of his head. Just as he stuck his head up Daddy Crow set his foot fairly in his open mouth! Quick as a flash the clam closed his shell! As he did so Daddy Crow squawked and leaped into the air, dragging the clam out of the mud with him! Instantly he seized the clam with the free foot and tried to pull him loose from the other foot!

Although the clam had a tight grip on Daddy Crow's foot, he was not causing him any pain; but Daddy Crow was awfully frightened. He flew away as fast as his wings would carry him, tugging with all his might with one foot to release the other from the grip of the clam. As he crossed a big road the clam loosed his hold. Daddy Crow was glad to be rid of him, so he let go with the other foot and down went the clam to smash on the hard road! As soon as Daddy Crow provided a clam supper. Billy that he was a much wiser crow than Daddy Crow and should be given the leadership.

INTENSIVE FARMING

Conducted by FRANK S. MONTGOMERY, M. S.,
Instructor in Animal Husbandry, and Special Investigator.

Farm Demonstration Work

The article in the "Intensive Farming" column last week on farm demonstration work was published to call attention to the wide spread influence of the Office of Farm Management of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and to remind people of this vicinity of the rare opportunity they have for leadership in improved farming, since the work has been taken up here in cooperation with Berea College.

But this is hardly necessary, for there are always half a dozen or more farmers on the waiting list for me to visit their farms and advise them on the use of fertilizers and lime, crop rotations, etc. I am getting around to these people as fast as my many duties with demonstrators already at work will permit. Saturdays are my office days and those wishing to consult me about their farms may see me then, either on the street at Berea, or in my office.

Since the timber business is practically wound up in this region, farmers are of necessity turning to their farms for a living. And right here I want to say that there is no need of people moving from their farms to seek a better living for four out of five of the farms of this vicinity can easily be made to produce from two to three times as much as they now do.

How is this to be done? First of all the "rest cure" for corn fields must be abandoned. The school teachers tell us that a change of work is a rest, so they change the children's tasks frequently. This law applies just as truly to the crops we raise on our fields as to ourselves. So that when you put different crops on your fields each year plowing under some of them, you obtain the same results you are aiming at by letting your land grow up to briars and brush for several years. By successfully growing cowpeas and clover in your rotation you can permanently improve the land.

"But," you say, "clover don't grow well on my land." That is just what I am here for, to help you make clover grow. And here, in a general way, is what is necessary to do it: In the first place the land must be properly drained. If natural drainage is not sufficient, drain by artificial means. Write me or come and see me and we will determine what is the best way in your case. After draining lime is necessary. It is now demonstrated that ground limestone is the best for permanent results on the land. Red clover absolutely refuses to grow on sour land and to be sure of a stand and the avoiding of winter killing, the land must be decidedly alkaline. Then too, the land must be well supplied with humus by the use of manure and plowing under green crops such as rye, cowpeas, etc. Nearly all our land is much in need of phosphorus. The best way to secure this is in the ground raw rock form as it is the most inexpensive and gives the most permanent results. After this is accomplished the proper rotation of crops will do the rest.

I would recommend as a rotation while preparing the ground for clover, corn, with rye as a winter cover crop to be plowed under in the spring and followed by cowpeas. Rye should follow the cowpeas for late fall and early winter pasture. This rye should be plowed under early in March and oats and clover sown by the middle of March if possible. The ground should now be in excellent condition to grow clover and a three or four year rotation of corn, wheat or oats, and clover.

Some say they can't afford to buy lime, phosphate and clover seed. I will be only too glad to talk over this serious problem with you and we will devise some plan by which an acre or two at a time can be built up in this way.

A number around Berea have already started in for permanent improvement and the number so doing will double every year for several years at least. This will be easy with an inexhaustible supply of limestone right at hand and one mill already grinding nearly every day. I predict that two such mills cannot supply the demand in a year or two.

When Prof. Mason was in Berea the boys jokingly called him "Old Cowpeas." That man surely was a benefactor to Berea. Last year probably a third of the farmers of this vicinity raised cowpeas or soy beans. This year at least two thirds are doing it. They simply work wonders in the soil. See the pictures in my exhibit Commencement day, and talk to any farmer that has raised them. You are at all interested.

The thirty corn club boys and the dozen men raising corn by club methods are signs of great hope for the future. All this is catching. Never were half as many disk harrows, improved cultivators and drills sold in Berea as this season.

Catch the spirit of the times and let me know what you wish to do and you have all the resources of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at your command to help make a prosperous and happy home and leave a rich heritage to your children.

Frank Montgomery,
Farm Demonstrator.

CANCER NOT CONTAGIOUS

In the June American Magazine Dr. Woods Hutchinson writes a department called "Fifth and Horse-Power" in which he contributes a short article entitled "A New Spear Against the Cancer Dragon." Following is an extract:

"The commonest site of cancer in men is the mouth region, particularly the lips or tongue at the time which the teeth are beginning to be lost and the jaws to shrivel in consequence, and nearly three fifths of cancers which occur in women develop in the organs of reproduction, the uterus and mammary glands after the menopause, or change of life. Hence, we know it is well to pay early and prompt attention to warts, fissures, or chronic ulcers, jagged or projecting teeth in men between forty-five and sixty, and to any pains, hemorrhages, or serious disturbances in women near or just following the change of life.

"Although several forms of cancer can be readily transmitted from one case to another in mice, in chickens and several other animals, all attempts to discover the organism or germ of the process, or to find valid evidence of infection of one human being with cancer from another case, have failed utterly. So that there appears to be no reason at present for believing that the disease is either contagious by a germ or is infectious or contagious in any way. Those who have charge of such cases have no reason to dread infection, although the most scrupulous cleanliness and all aseptic and antiseptic precautions should be observed."

FORMER STUDENT WRITES

Mr. Chin Wah, whom a good many Bereans will remember, writes an interesting letter to Prof. and Mrs. Marsh from Columbus, O., where he has just graduated from the Ohio State University.

He is remaining in this country for a few weeks to gather some data on agricultural matters, having gotten in connection with various representatives of the Agricultural Department at Washington and representatives to Congress, who are aiding him with bulletins, etc. He is also making investigations of some experiment stations and is going back to China with the hope of bettering agricultural conditions in his homeland.

Mr. Chin Wah was in Berea in 1904 and writes affectionately of the school, the student body, the teachers with whom he came in close contact, especially Prof. and Mrs. Marsh and Pres. and Mrs. Frost.

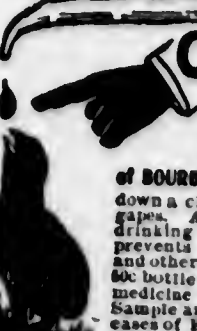

He pays a high tribute to the standard of the school and gives it great credit for helping to establish in him a Christian character as well as for building him up physically.

COULDN'T DO WITHOUT IT

Two years ago Mr. G. W. Cope of Livingston, a weaver of the Blue, came into The Citizen office and told us his subscription, saying that he liked the paper very much but that he would have to do without it for a while. He was in Berea for the Soldiers' Reunion and a part of the Commencement program this year, and one of the first places he visited was The Citizen Office. To make up for the two years he has missed the paper, he subscribed for two years in advance, paying cash and getting a knife.

Mr. Cope says that his family have been at a great loss without The Citizen and he proposes to continue to take it as long as he lives and is able. Later he brought a comrade in to subscribe for the paper.

The Editor had a pleasant visit with Mr. Cope and enjoyed his reminiscences of war times, he having been on the battle lines in the Vicksburg campaign.

NOT A CURE

According to the statement of the Health Officer of the port of New York, the supposed cure for consumption exploited by Dr. Friedmann is not only not a cure, but is proving positively injurious to many of those treated.

The health officer recommends that steps be taken to prohibit its use, until such time as it is proved.

RE-ELECTED COMMANDER

Col. Bennett H. Young of Kentucky was re-elected Commander-in-chief of the Confederate veterans before the close of their reunion, which was held in Chattanooga last week. The next reunion is to be held in Jacksonville, Fla.

INVESTIGATIONS TO BE MADE

The conditions in the coal fields of West Virginia are to be investigated by the Federal authorities, a resolution to that effect having passed the Senate of the United States last week, and a similar resolution having been presented in the House. The committee will investigate the charge of peonage, the violation of the immigration laws, interference with the mails and postoffices, and the trial of citizens by military tribunals.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION

As a result of the charges made by Pres. Wilson last week, that "a lobby of the special interests, industrious and insidious, such as before has never been known, lures the capital, antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill," an investigation is to be made by the Senate.

The President calls attention to the fact that the people have no lobby, entrusting their interests, as they do, members of Congress, while the special interests are spending large sums to impress their views upon Congress.

DEMOCRATIC MIXUP ON THE CURRENCY

President Wilson is particularly anxious that a currency law shall be passed at this session, but his Democratic compatriots are rather shy of this large subject. The fact is, our currency is the most important subject before the country today — and some juvenile Democratic statesman are anxious for the currency measure to go over until the regular session in December so that they can study up on the A B C's of finances. Pres. Wilson is helping Leader Underwood pick out the "brightest chaps" in the present Congress to serve on the Banking and Currency Committee in the hope that a Currency Bill may be passed that will enable the currency to freely expand in accordance with the requirements of business. The value of currency is not increasing in proportion to the increase of business and a larger volume is demanded by the business of the country.

THE TARIFF

The administration is endeavoring to rush the tariff bill thru the Senate in a few weeks in the hope that Congress may adjourn August 1st. As to the carrying out of this program there is some doubt. The Democrats have six majority in the Senate, they having 51 members and the Republicans and Progressives 45. It seems very likely that the two Democratic Senators from Louisiana will vote with the Republicans against the bill on account of the sugar schedule which places sugar on the free list at the end of three years. Then if two more Democrats can be induced to vote against the bill on account of free wool, the bill will then be defeated. However, it is not likely that four Democratic Senators will vote against the bill. Pres. Wilson is popular with the rank and file of his party and exceptionally strong with the independent voter; in fact he has grown stronger every day since he has been in the White House and his strong hold on the people will probably enable him to hold at least 49 Democratic Senators in line for the bill which will insure its passage.

If Senator Clapp's campaign bill goes thru, about the only place where an aspiring politician can sit will be on the fence.

WHOOPIING COUGH AND MEASLES

Whooping cough and measles kill more babies under two years of age than any other of the contagious diseases.

Pneumonia, diarrhoeal diseases and convulsions are the diseases that cause the greatest number of deaths, and all three often follow whooping cough and measles.

Danger! Keep children with whooping cough from other children especially from babies. Keep them out of street cars, etc. Children with whooping cough should not be allowed to play with other children. They should be taken out of doors, but not with other children. Protect the whooping child from dust. If the child vomits, repeat the meal at once. First, last, and always, keep the child away from other children.

Studebaker

"The wagon that stands up like the reputation of its makers"

When you buy a Studebaker wagon you buy a wagon that will last until you turn the farm over to your son and he turns it over to his son.

One of the first Studebaker wagons ever made saw constant service for thirty years, and we will gladly send you the names of farmers who have in their possession wagons that have been in constant use anywhere from 17 to 48 years—and there are thousands of them. We are building the same kind of wagons today.

A Studebaker wagon is an investment that will give you full return for your outlay. It is built on honor. Iron, steel, wood, paint and varnish used in its construction are tested and retested to make sure each is the best.

For work, business or pleasure—for town or country use—there is a Studebaker vehicle to fit your requirements.

Farm wagons, dump carts, trucks, buggies, surreys, runabouts, pony carriages, business vehicles of every description—with harness of the same high standard.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Representative

We are authorized to announce J. G. Wood of Jackson County as a candidate for Representative of the 71st Legislative District, comprising the Counties of Clay, Jackson and Owsley, subject to the action of the Republican Primary, Aug. 2nd, 1913.

For Representative

We are authorized to announce W. R. Reynolds of Jackson County as a candidate for Representative from the Counties of Jackson, Owsley and Clay before the Republican voters at the August Primary 1913. Your votes are respectfully solicited. (ad)

For Representative

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of H. Clay Baldwin of Dathan, Jackson County, Ky., for Representative of the 71st Legislative District, composed of Clay, Jackson and Owsley Counties, subject to the action of all voters at the Republican Primary to be held Aug. 2nd, 1913.

For Superintendent of Schools of Jackson County

I am a candidate for Superintendent of Schools of Jackson County, subject to the action of the Republican voters at the State Primary, Aug. 2nd, 1913. Your support is earnestly solicited and will be duly appreciated.

Respectfully,
H. F. Minter.

For Superintendent of Schools of Jackson County

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the office of County Superintendent of Jackson County, and earnestly ask the voters and all good people interested in the cause of education in the county to give me their support.

Neither my individual interest nor the individual interest of any other candidate should be considered by any voter in deciding whom he will support. The question should be, "Who can and will do most for the cause of education in our county?"

I am glad that almost every voter is personally acquainted with me. He knows me educationally, morally, and socially. He knows whether I have ever said I would do a thing, and failed to do it. He knows whether I have done my utmost for the schools and the people of my county. He knows the conditions of the schools, when I was elected and their present condition, and he knows of the efforts put forth by me, working both day and night, in an endeavor to make the conditions better. So if the people of the county believe from all the facts and circumstances that the interest of Jackson County schools would be best promoted by re-electing me, I shall be very thankful.

Yours for better education and more of it in Jackson County.
J. J. Davis.

For Sheriff of Owsley County

I am a candidate for the office of sheriff of Owsley County, subject to the action of the Republican Primary, Aug. 1913. I hope to meet every voter and if I fail in getting to see you I earnestly appeal to you all for your influence and support in the coming primary.

Respectfully,
John W. Frost.

MT. VERNON ON THE WAY

Mt. Vernon, Ky., May 30, 1913. At a recent meeting of the prominent business men of the town plans were discussed for paving Main St. with brick from First St. to the R. R.

The Mt. Vernon Fair is promising to be a most successful one. The Mt. Vernon Commercial Club is offering several valuable premiums and pledging its support to the Fair Association.

A further step forward in municipal progress is the proposed electric light system. Definite arrangements have not been completed yet but everything points toward a well lighted city in the near future.

God Be With You!

God be with you till we meet again!
By His counsels guide, uphold you,
With His sheep securely fold you;
God be with you till we meet again!

CHORUS

Till we meet! Till we meet!
Till we meet at Jesus' feet;
Till we meet! Till we meet!
God be with you till we meet again!

God be with you till we meet again!
Keep love's banner floating o'er you,
Smite death's threatening wave before you;
God be with you till we meet again!

CORBIN AWARDS BIG CONTRACT

Corbin, Ky., May 23, 1913. Contract was awarded by the City Council, Tuesday night, for the installation of a complete water works system for Corbin. The American Light and Water Co., of Chicago took the contract for the sum of $26,794.

The mains are to extend over the entire town so that practically every residence will not only have protection against fire but may have water for domestic use.

A pressure of forty pounds will be in constant use with a reserve of 125 pounds for emergency. The system will be in operation by Oct. 5th.

LETCHER TO THE FRONT

Whitesburg, Ky., May 28, 1913. Traveling men are paying the highest compliments to the Whitesburg hotels. From their point of view nothing is a surer sign of prosperity in a mountain town.

When the Boosters' "Special Flyer," consisting of the finest Pullman Sleepers and vestibule coaches ever seen in this section pulled into Whitesburg one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds ever witnessed in Letcher greeted them. The Boosters expressed much regret that they could spend no more than half an hour in such a progressive town while the Whitesburgers expressed much pleasure at having even such a short visit.

The Elkhorn Fuel Co., have just completed some very extensive plans for further development of their coal fields in Letcher. Several other enterprises like Jenkins and McRoberts are under way, which shows that Letcher is the coming county of the mountains.

ENTHUSIASM IN MIDDLESBORO

Middlesboro, Ky., May 29, 1913. Middlesboro witnessed a most encouraging expression of the determination of her business men, Saturday night, the 24th, when the Board of Trade held a banquet in celebration of their victory in the freight rate case.

Citizens of Middlesboro and vicinity are very much gratified to know that the L. and N. Parlor car service is to be extended from Corbin to Norton on trains 22 and 23. Operations begin, June 1.

PROSPECTS FOR PERRY

Hazard, Ky., May 29, 1913. An enterprising lumber dealer and fruit grower of Minneapolis, Minn., was in town recently. He owns one of the finest fruit farms in the state and sees a great future for Perry County in that business if the people will only take advantage of the fine climate and rich soil.

E. W. Compton, official organizer for the order of Owis, leaves a newly organized order in Hazard which has prospects for good success. The charter was closed Saturday night, the 24th, with an initiation of about fifty members, making a total membership of nearly one hundred.

The Hazard Athletic Association is leading in the baseball circles in the mountains. Letters are coming constantly from Jackson, Whitesburg and various other places requesting dates and making inquiries concerning the schedule of Hazard's games.

LAUREL'S EDUCATIONAL POINTERS

London, Ky., May 29, 1913. The Sue Bennett Memorial School closed a very successful year, Monday night, May 26. Dr. W. W. Pierson of Nashville, Tenn., delivering the Commencement address.

Prof. J. A. Cawood of Flemingsburg has been selected as the principal of the London High School for the ensuing year. The school closed last week with appropriate exercises and presentation of diplomas to twenty-eight graduates.

Col. Geo. W. Bain, one of the most famous of the platform lecturers, speaks at the Court House, Wednesday night, June 4th.

CLAY COUNTY STILL HOPEFUL

Manchester, Ky., May 30, 1913. Mr. J. M. Young was in Berea, Madison County, this week looking after his real estate interests and investigating other bargains there.

The report is that the $100 reward for the conviction of every vote buyer or vote seller in the county will give a square deal in the August elections.

The Clay County Clarion says that while Manchester sleeps Hazard grows. Some day the Clarion will have the pleasure of praising her own little county capitol.

SEE HARLAN GROW

Harlan, Ky., May 30, 1913. Rev. C. T. Michel, trustee of Berea College, left this week to attend Commencement at Berea and visit in Louisville.

The City Council has voted to offer for sale, Monday July 9, a franchise for the use of streets, etc., of Harlan for the installation of a water works system. Harlan is very favorably located for such a system and it is hoped the project will go through at once.

Mr. Needham, manager of the Lyric Theatre of Pineville, is planning to extend his business to Harlan. The very successful management of the Lyric at Pineville has won for it a splendid reputation and Harlan is ready to welcome any first class enterprise.

The organization of a brass band for Harlan shows the progressive spirit. Sixteen instruments have been secured and Harlan will be ready to celebrate the Fourth in the patriotic fashion.

HYDEN AWAKES FROM SLUMBERS

Hyden, Ky., May 29, 1913. Hyden has been the scene of unusual activity recently on account of the visit of prominent New Yorkers who are taking special interest in the development of Hyden. They are especially interested in the advancement of education and are giving Hyden High School their financial support as well as their personal attention.
